How can I help my child during the exam season?

Exams are a stressful time for any young person. It's worth considering ways of supporting your child during exam weeks and thinking about how you will react and respond on the day if they don't get the result that they, or you, are hoping for. A key role you can play is making studying at home a normal, routine part of each day. Forming the correct habits early on is essential to enable students to have the motivation to study and the drive to succeed.

Create a revision timetable - There are example timetables available on the 'Home Learning Hub' and all students have been issued timetables to complete ahead of their mock exams. Having a structure and a goal to work towards will ensure that you and your child know what is expected each day.

Review online resources - Work with your child to find what revision style works for them. There are videos and resources about different revision techniques on the 'Home Learning Hub'. It is essential to take regular breaks when revising, we advocate the 'Pomodoro technique' which involves revising for 25 minutes followed by a 5-minute break, repeated four times in total.

Utilise the resources online. Each subject has provided students with a breakdown of how best to revise in their subject area and what students should be looking at. There are links to revision materials on the 'Home Learning Hub'.

Power Hour and Study Hub - Encourage attendance at all 'Power Hour' and 'Study Hub' sessions at school from now up until the exams. Students can benefit from an additional four hours of studying in the school environment each week which will have an impact on progress.

Reassure them – reinforce that you are and will be proud of them no matter what happens. Remain positive and hopeful!
